MEMORANDUM FOR: NIO/Strategic Programs
FROM: Director of Central Intelligence
SUBJECT: NIE 11-3/8-77, Chapter V

1. I have read through page 35 of Chapter V. My comments are noted in the margin.

2. On the issue we discussed the other morning in my office as how best to portray static/quasar/dynamic comparisons, I'd like to make the following suggestion: On page V-26, you list eight comparative indices. It looks to me as though the first six are applicable to both hard and soft targets and we should go ahead with these. It looks to me as though the last two are applicable only to hard targets, and are a rather poor index of hard target capability. It seems to me that we should list the first six general indices and then divide into hard and soft targets. For this, we should skip immediately to the terms "counterforce index" and "lethal area to be destroyed" as defined in the DDI pamphlet. We should explain that these are a jump towards a more realistic and dynamic indicator. If possible, we should then go on to an even more dynamic one of silos remaining and fatalities, if we think we can do that, and finally end up with a discussion that only a full-scale war game could do a true comparison.

3. In short, we're on the right track here. It's better than before, but it still doesn't leave the reader with any way of grasping a handle on what comparative strengths are with the other fellow. I think I would be much more comfortable with the combination of lethal area and counterforce index than I would with these simple hard-target capabilities.

4. Please return the Chapter for my weekend reading.

MEMORANDUM FOR: [] EA/DCI

FROM: DCI

Please take my message [] and put a note on it to Secretary Blumenthal that I asked you to deliver this to him in my absence. Please have in my weekend reading a copy of the Brzezinski memo on the various SALT arrangements that I brought back with me from Brzezinski's place on Wednesday night and gave to Howie Stoertz to work up the big chart with. Also a copy of the big chart, please. I'll send back all the Duncan business. I'm going to meet with Duncan at 1100 on Saturday on my way home from the airport, so have the driver have it in hand for me to take from the car into the Pentagon, please. I'll come from Duncan's back to the Agency if whoever is on duty thinks it's necessary or desirable; otherwise, I'll go home. I'll expect to check after I leave Duncan's office.

If you, [] and the children want to pick apples and pears this weekend, feel free to come out and do it if you are prepared to climb high in the trees!

Also for the weekend, please send me that pamphlet on different ways of counting the static and dynamic indicators of strategic forces, the one I sent to [] with a note on it last Monday.

Preparation for the Duncan meeting: Please give my notes to John McMahon. Ask him to type up something I can use with Duncan to show, I think, the two changes we want, though he may still want a change on page 27. If so, write it up also. I don't know that we need one there.

Redo [] summary to give to Duncan. Also, attach to it the paper summarizing the results.

Next [] will you set up a system that they send me one copy of every unclassified publication we put out. I just read of a couple more in newspapers that I didn't know we were publishing. (Not just studies, but atlases or anything else.)

Mr. [] took action 14 Oct.

Will you also please find out what's going on with my Director's Notes that I drafted and any others. It's been over a month and a half since we've put any out, I believe. (NOTE: Last one was 12 Sept.)

25X1 [] make a note for my next meeting with Brzezinski to take along that chart of what we'd covered in the PDB in the last nine months.

Back to the Director's Notes, I want someone to write one up about the personal compliments from the President and the tremendous other work that the graphics people have been doing.

25X1 Send word to that [] or whoever it was who did the stupid study on why the DIA building can't be built on CIA grounds. Tell him I'd like to know at what stage the design for the DIA building is; they have designed a building several times according to my understanding, but each time neither the price nor the size of the building has changed. Do they have anything in hand today that really suits the building they are going to talk about constructing at Bolling with fiscal '79 funds. Ask him also if they have to get any Capitol Planning Commission environmental impact statements or other approvals for Bolling just as they do for construction at CIA. I suspect if the building is changed any at Bolling they have to go back and get all those things over again, and I feel confident they don't have a building already designed for Bolling. Beyond that, tell [] I want him to pick up all the arguments he can for why it ought to be built at CIA instead of the ones he has done in the other direction. I want to see the pros and the cons; all I got was the cons in his study.

MEMORANDUM FOR: [] EA/DCI
FROM: DCI

Tell that man [] who I asked on the other tape to give me some more data about the CIA/DIA building, that the basic study has no specifics on why it is going to take longer to build the DIA building if CIA is in it.

Bolling - We'd like to have a little table that shows the date for starting design, completing design, the date for starting environmental approvals, NCPC approvals, the date for starting construction, completing construction for the DIA building at CIA and at Bolling. I'd like to see the dates for terminal occupancy of the present DIA buildings that would be vacated when they move into the new building and which ones of those can be extended, for how long; and then his recommendations on how to propose accelerating the proposal at CIA.

Duncan - For my meeting with Duncan tomorrow, remind me to take up with him the question of a new study on war gaming the strategic equation. Let me give him a copy of the DDI pamphlet on terminology in this area. For the meeting with Duncan I want back-up from John McMahon on the three points in the Executive Order that Duncan raised with me last week. I'd also like a copy of my paragraph that I have been proposing to put in the Executive Order saying that under operational emergencies Defense can take tasking of manned military vehicles. I'd also like to be sure I have a copy of the Presidential decision.

Tell Ted Shackley I think I'll come out to the Agency Saturday morning after my meeting with Duncan to go over with him what we are giving Bill Miller on Panama Saturday afternoon.
